

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

Solid Waste Collection and Disposal Services Review

The City of Rossland is requesting proposals to provide consulting services to review the City's current residential curbside solid waste collection and disposal services. General undertakings related to this review include, but are not limited to, reviewing the City of Rossland's solid waste programs and services currently being provided, conducting of research in regards to how other similar sized and type municipalities deliver their jurisdiction's solid waste management program services (including all associated costs), hosting public engagement/input sessions with the general public and appropriate stakeholders to collect information on their views with respect to current/future solid waste collection service undertakings, and submitting a final report on the findings of the review to Council for further review and consideration.

SCOPE OF WORK

The proposed project will look to review, in general, the way the City currently provides residential solid waste collection and disposal services and provide information with respect to best management practices currently being implemented in similar-sized municipalities/communities dealing with this service. Further, the project will look to acquire adequate public outreach with residents, community leaders, and appropriate stakeholders in order to collect and summarize information with respect to current/future solid waste collection service undertakings. The project will be completed when a final report on the general findings of this review is submitted to the City and subsequently presented to Rossland City Council.

PROJECT DELIVERABLES

The project is to include the following deliverables for the City of Rossland:

- 1) General review of the current residential curbside solid waste collection service.
This includes both an operational and financial review of the current residential solid waste collection contract the City has in place with the Contractor.

- 2) Review and research on how other similar sized and/or type municipalities deliver their jurisdiction's solid waste management program services to their residents.

This includes conducting a table-top comparative study and analysis on how other municipalities/communities deliver solid waste collection/disposal programs and services that are similar to Rossland. This may be based on location, size, population, geography, overall budget, etc. The comparable municipality/community list should be reviewed by the City prior to commencement of any information gathering activities undertaken by the Consultant.

3) Development and implementation of a public information strategy that looks to collect relevant information on the general views of visitors, residents and stakeholders with respect to the City's current, and possible future, solid waste collection and disposal service delivery levels.

This includes the development and implementation of a public information strategy aimed towards the City (through the consultant) conducting activities to obtain suitable feedback on the current, and future service delivery methods of solid waste collection in the City. This strategy must provide for adequate options related to online feedback, distribution and collection of mail surveys, interviews with appropriate stakeholders, and at least one (1) public open house session.

A portion of this deliverable is to liaise with appropriate stakeholders, which includes, but is not limited to, the Regional District of Kootenay Boundary (RDKB) regarding their plans for future possible implementation of their Organics Management Strategy, specifically related to the McKelvey Creek Wasteshed (i.e. East-End communities Rossland to Fruitvale), Rossland Sustainability Commission (SC) regarding their work related to local backyard organics diversion, WildSafeBC regarding their work in preventing conflict with wildlife through collaboration, education and community solutions, etc. The appropriate stakeholder list should be reviewed by the City prior to commencement of any information gathering activities undertaken by the Consultant.

4) Completion of a Detailed Final Report summarizing the findings of the general review undertakings (1-3) with suggested recommendations for possible service improvements.

This includes the creation of a final report detailing the deliverables noted above (items 1-3) and presenting that report to Rossland City Council at a future Regular / Committee-of-the-Whole Meeting at the discretion of the City. The report will also include suggested recommendations the City can review and consider in order to provide for possible future service level amendments and/or improvements.

QUALIFICATION AND PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

The successful consultant will have demonstrated experience in conducting similar typed program/service reviews, particularly within the context of Local Government operations. The successful consultant should also have a strong track record related to conducting and implementing public consultation and engagement strategies, specifically related to Local Government service delivery levels.

Through this project, the consultant will be required to understand and align municipal financial, operational, and strategic perspectives while taking into consideration regulatory and administrative requirements and their constraints in order to generate possible recommendations for possible future service level amendments/improvements that are achievable in the City. For further information regarding this Request for Proposals, please contact the undersigned.
